Anti-Tramp Tickets.

Where can these tickets be found? I was applied to last evening for some, and went to the National Bank of Virginia to get them from Mr. Morton, but the bank was closed. A lady, by the way, could not go out at night for one. Had they not better be carried from house to house, say next Saturday, by some half-grown school-boys of good address, so as to supply the public? This is terrible weather to be exposed to the elements. I called at the home lately and found them making 'comforts,' or quilts—certainly a seasonable commodity.
